Good Friday, Good Weather and a Good Struggle on the Diamond.

A VERY BUSY FOURTH INNING.

Athletic 8 Brooklyn 9

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—The greatest crowd of the season greeted the Athletic and Brooklyn teams this afternoon when they marched on to the field to play off the championship game which was postponed from Wednesday, over 9,000 persons being within the grounds when the game was started. The weather was favorable for good ball. Good Friday is generally observed here, and the weather was such as to make holiday-seekers yearn for outdoor entertainment. The crowd overflowed into the field and every available space on the stand was occupied. Every good play, and many a play that was not good, was greeted with prolonged shouts and cheers. The Athletics, of course, receiving the bulk of the encouragement. The starting of the game was delayed by the crowd surging into the field, and it was found necessary to send for additional policemen. Bases were brought into requisition, and the crowd was finally pushed back far enough to permit play.

The attendance increased to fully 11,000. ATLANTIC CITY. COLLINS, 3d b. Burns, 2d b. Pinkney, 3d b. Foutz, 1st b. Purcell, 2d b. Corkhill, c. F. Fennelly, s. a. Bierbauer, 3d b. Robinson, c. Seward, p. Umpire—Mr. Ferguson. First Inning—It was just 4 o'clock when "Curly" Welch walked to the plate. He waited a while and then trotted to first on balls. He subsequently stole second, and went up to third on Lovett's wild throw to catch him napping. Stovey sent a safe grounder to left and Welch came in. Lyons hit to Pinkney, who held the ball a while to keep Stovey on second, and then followed it up with a wild throw. Stovey going to third. Lyons stole second.

Lyons hit to Pinkney, who headed off Stovey at the plate. Fennelly struck out. One run. Collins began for Brooklyn with a base on balls and stole second by virtue of Bierbauer's muff of Robinson's throw. Burns died to Lyons. Pinkney hit to Lyons, who tried to catch Collins. The latter regained the base, but Pinkney, who had gone down to second while Collins was being chased up and down, was put out. Foutz followed with a fly to left, which looked as good as wheat, but Stovey managed to get under it. No runs. Second Inning—Bierbauer reached first on balls and stole second with the aid of a passed ball. Robinson sent a fly to left, of which "Darby" O'Brien made a great catch. Seward lifted a little fly, which Vinsler permitted to drop in front of him. Welch died to O'Brien, and Stovey was thrown out by Collins. No runs. Corkhill began Brooklyn's half with a sharp grounder to Bierbauer and died at first. O'Brien made a dismal attempt at a bunt and was out, Seward to Larkin. Vinsler gave Welch a chance and the side was out. No runs. Third Inning—Lyons's high foul fly was taken in good style by Vinsler. Larkin got first on a fumble by Smith and was left there, Purcell flying to Corkhill and Fennelly being thrown out by Collins. No runs. Smith opened for Brooklyn in good style by cracking the ball into the crowd at left and taking second. Lovett was thrown out by Lyons, who cleverly held Smith at second. Collins was presented with another base on balls.

Neither Smith nor Collins advanced any further. Burns and Pinkney flying to Stovey and Lyons respectively. No runs. Fourth Inning—Bierbauer hit a fly over second. Robinson sent the ball along the third-base line, which Pinkney, thinking that it would roll foul, permitted to go by him. Bierbauer took third and Robinson second on the play. Seward struck out. Welch was hit by the pitcher and took first. Stovey followed with a fly to left, which O'Brien took in good style. As soon as the ball settled in Darby's hands the base runners started to take a base each. O'Brien threw home to head off Bierbauer, but Vinsler let the ball get away from him and Bierbauer scored. Robinson made a break for the plate and Vinsler threw wildly to Foutz. Robinson and Welch also scored. Lyons died to O'Brien. Three runs. The Brooklynites tied the score in their half of the fourth.

hill followed with a double to the same garden. O'Brien was struck by a pitched ball. Vinsler died to Stovey. Smith put another two-bagger into the crowd at left, and Foutz and Corkhill came in.

Lovett kept up the good work by planting a single over third and O'Brien and Smith scored. Lovett was forced out at second on Collins's drive to Fennelly and Burns died to Welch. Four runs. Fifth Inning—The Athletics were quickly disposed of. Larkin, Purcell and Fennelly dying at first. Smith, Pinkney and Collins assisted at the obsequies. No runs. A slick double play by Welch and Robinson kept Brooklyn from going to the front in this inning. Pinkney started off with a three-bagger to centre. Foutz died to Bierbauer. Corkhill died to Welch, and Pinkney, who attempted to score, was retired at the plate. No runs. Sixth Inning—The Athletics broke the tie. Bierbauer opened with a single, stole second, went to third on Robinson's hit and scored on a wild pitch. Robinson took third on the pitch. Seward and Welch were thrown out by Pinkney and Smith. Stovey's grounder to short was fumbled by Smith, and Robinson scored. Stovey was thrown out in trying to steal second. Two runs. The victors wrested the lead from the Athletics again.

O'Brien and Vinsler began in a businesslike way by rapping out a base hit, and each advanced a base on a wild pitch. Smith reached first on balls, filling the bases. Lovett was thrown out by Lyons. O'Brien scoring. Collins planted a double in left and Vinsler and Smith crossed the plate. "Hub" was caught napping off second, Robinson to Bierbauer. Burns hit safely to centre. He stole second with the aid of a wild throw, but was thrown out in trying to make third on the same play. Three runs.

Seventh Inning—The Athletics were unable to tie or pass their opponents. Lyons made a hit and stole second. Larkin died to Smith, and Purcell was sent to first on balls. Fennelly died to O'Brien. Bierbauer was sent to first on balls, filling the bases. Robinson was unequal to the emergency, his fly to right being caught by Burns. No runs. The victors increased their lead. Pinkney made a hit and took second on Foutz's sacrifice. Corkhill hit safely to left, and Pinkney made a bluff of going home. Stovey felled the ball in good style. O'Brien followed with a double and Pinkney scored. Vinsler struck out. Mr. Burns made a kick over Ferguson's calling of strikes and Bob died him 45. One run. The continuation of the game is shown in the score by innings.

PEARSON WORSE.

Postmaster Henry G. Pearson's life is ebbing away. He passed a very bad night last night, another hemorrhage setting in during the night which was very exhausting. Assistant Postmaster Gaylord received word this morning from ex-Postmaster-General Thomas L. James, at whose home in Hightwood, N. J., Mr. Pearson is lying, that Mr. Pearson is very low indeed and sinking. Dr. Jacoby, Mr. Pearson's physician, yesterday informed Mr. James that his patient was in a very critical condition, and advised that preparation be made in his official affairs for the worst. Mr. James communicated with George Jones, of the Times, and other gentlemen who are Mr. Pearson's sureties on a $200,000 bond, and a meeting of the sureties was held last evening, at which the following resolution was adopted, to take effect in case of the death of the Postmaster: "The undersigned sureties on the bond of Henry G. Pearson, Postmaster of the city of New York, do hereby designate and depose, as by section 446 of the Postal Code and regulations, Thomas L. James as Assistant Postmaster of New York City to perform the duties of the office and safely keep the property for them until a successor is appointed and takes possession. Mr. Gaylord was still in charge at the Post-Office today, and stated that Mr. James would not be there at all unless Mr. Pearson should die.

HOT WORDS IN THE SENATE.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] ALBANY, April 19.—The Senate at 2 o'clock took a recess for half an hour to try and patch up a truce. The two parties have been quarrelling and fighting over the question of whether the two political measures of the Republicans—the High-License bill and the Saxton Electoral Reform bill—shall be given precedence over the Mayor's Rapid-Transit bill, which the Republicans are trying to destroy. Time after time has the Lieutenant-Governor been forced to call the angry Republicans to order for constant breaches of parliamentary law. Senator Erwin delivered the fiercest kind of a speech at the opening, and Senator Fassett has identified Senator Grady several times, bidding him to sit down and not make so much noise. Senator Grady resented this impertinence and said if they were in any other place he would respect it in another way. "Well, you can respect it in any other place," said Fassett. "Make no mistake," shouted Grady, "but I will, I will respect it if it is repeated in the street." On resuming the Senate tabled the Rapid-Transit bill and ordered that it be printed with the amendments. The vote was 18 to 8.

SECOND GAME.

New York 6 Hartford 9

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] HARTFORD, Conn., April 19.—Beautiful Summer weather and the announcement that the New Yorks would battle with Hartford's Atlantic League Club attracted 3,000 lovers of baseball to the morning game today.

The visitors presented their strongest team, with Welch and Ewing as the battery. Hartford also put its star pitcher, Winkelman, in the box, with Derby behind the bat. The game throughout was interesting, although at no time was excitement manifested. Run-making began in the second inning, when the home club scored three runs on base hits of Ray and Derby. McCabe being sent to first on balls and Foster reaching the bag through being hit by pitcher. Hartford scored two more runs in the seventh on a bad throw by Wagenhurst and hits by Murphy and Derby. The Giants were unable to hit Winkelman until the last half of the game. In the fifth Slatery and Whitney scored on a two-base hit by the former and a muff of a hard-hit ball by Ray from Whitney's bat. A single run was added in the sixth and another in the seventh.

In the eighth Winkelman was nervous, and sent two men to first by hitting them, which, with base hits by Ewing and Whitney, added two runs, the visitors thus winning the game by a score of 6 to 5. This was the first defeat for the Hartforders since the season opened. Welch was hit for seven base hits, with a total of eight, and Winkelman for five singles and a total of eight. The home club made four errors and the visitors two. "Gentle Willie" Murphy led at bat for the home players with two singles and a double. For the visitors Ewing made a three-bagger and Slatery a double. The same clubs met again this afternoon.

THE AFTERNOON GAME.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 19.—The afternoon game between the New Yorks and Hartford was witnessed by 5,000 people, the playing being somewhat interfered with by encroachments on the field. Both clubs played different batteries from the morning, the visitors introducing George and Murphy, and the home club O'Connell and Moolie. From the opening the pitchers were freely pounded. In the first inning Gore made a two-bagger and Murphy a home run, both scoring. In the second the visitors added four runs on base hits by Foster, Connor, Wagenhurst, Whitney and George. The visitors did not score in the next four innings. The home players scored one run in the first on a two-base hit by Mann. Another run was made in the third through a bad fumble by Whitney, giving Moolie a base, and good hitting sending him home. In the fourth, two runs were made by Henry and McCabe on singles and a two-bagger by Foster. Hartford took the lead in the sixth inning by adding four runs on base hits by Mann, Henry, Ray and McCabe, one player being forced home by the strike being hit by the pitcher when the bases were filled. No runs were made in the eighth inning. In the ninth the Hartforders added one run on base hits by Murphy and Henry, and a high throw over third base by Connor. The visitors failed to score.

RUN INTO BY A FREIGHT TRAIN.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 19.—Passenger train No. 1 on the short line, due here from Cincinnati at noon, was run into by local freight train No. 33, near Glencoe, at 11 o'clock this morning. The driver on the passenger train's engine had broken, and the train stopped until it could be repaired. A flagman was sent back, but when the accident was repaired he was recalled. Just as the passenger train started the freight train came around a curve in the same direction, and dashed into the sleeper. The freight train was overturned and badly damaged. The injured passengers are: Mr. Lamond, of New Orleans, right arm sprained; C. M. Morton, Calvert, Tex., left arm and side bruised; Mrs. Kirker, Allegheny City, Pa., scalp wound; A. J. Dove, Maumee, Mich., head cut and left arm sprained; A. J. Dove, Jr., of Cincinnati, right arm and side bruised. Wm. Kipper, fireman of the freight, had his right arm broken and his scalp wound in jumping from the train. Adolph Messer, the flagman, left leg bruised; John Walker, brakeman, badly bruised. All the passengers were brought to this city.

THE CANTOR BILL PASSED.

A Hard Fight in Which "The Evening World" Is Proud to Have Helped to Victory.

THE ASSEMBLY VOTE 74 TO 10.

The Polo Grounds are saved at last. The Legislature has done well in thus recognizing the interests of the National game and its hundreds of thousands of admirers in the National metropolises. Yes, the Polo Grounds are saved for the season of 1889.

But what else could you expect when "The Evening World" put its shoulder to the wheel? And now, dear Giants, lay a heavy mortgage on that pennant this year. They are the men who had the courage to vote according to their convictions; but the true opposition lobbied for voting members from voting, preferring to kill the bill by lack of votes rather than by an expressed vote. They would have succeeded, but for Speaker Cole's determination to have the roll called till a two-thirds vote was on the record. The persistent agitation of the Polo Grounds matter by the Evening World has had great weight among the legislators here.

It was felt that a movement which could enlist in one community the spontaneous support of the 30,430 people whose names were attached to the Evening World petitions must be one of more than ordinary popular interest. DAY HEARS OF IT. Wild Joy Reigns In and About the President's Office. A messenger from THE EVENING WORLD rushed wildly out of the office this morning bearing in his hand a despatch. His destination was the office of John B. Day, President of the New York Baseball Club, and the despatch he carried announced the passage in the Assembly of Senator Cantor's bill which preserves the Polo Grounds to the Giants until the 1st of October next. Mr. Day, calm as ever, but with a look of worry on his face, was seated in a large arm chair, with an eagle carved between his fingers and dreams of Staten Island in his mind. He mechanically opened the despatch and slowly turned his eyes to the written words within. The first three lines contained the pith of the message, and it didn't take Mr. Day much longer than a month to comprehend them. He then hit his forehead with his fingers and left him, and with a wild whoop of joy the man who furnishes Gotham's public with its favorite pastime jumped from his chair and cried out: "Cantor has done it! The Polo Grounds are ours!"

By magic, friends of the Club, players and cranks in general became congregated in the office. Mr. Day's face wreathed in smiles, shook hands with every one, while every man present looked as happy as a newly made papa buying a rattle for baby. When matters had become somewhat quieter Mr. Day tried to throw some cold water on the general rejoicing by hinting that the bill had to be signed by Gov. Hill, and the Governor's opinion on the question was not known. But somehow or other no one there would permit himself to believe that Gov. Hill would veto the bill, and just so soon as he signs it high fences will once more spread the Polo Grounds, and the people will be happy.

WOLVERINES.

Detroit's International Colts in Jersey City.

THEY DEFEAT THE HOME NINE.

Perfect Weather for Baseball Playing Over in Oakland Park.

Jersey City 1 Detroit 4

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] OAKLAND PARK, JERSEY CITY, April 19.—To eyes accustomed to the League Wolverines of seasons past the Club which at present represents Detroit and which came to Jersey City this afternoon to do battle with the local Club must have presented a rather strange appearance.

The present Club is made up of very good-sized and stocky-looking fellows, but they have not that hugeness which characterizes the old-time champions of the League. But Manager Leadley is thus far satisfied with his colts and promises that they will make a good running for the International League championship. Manager Powers's Jerseyans, fresh from the close call they gave the Beaneaters yesterday, appeared in newly washed uniforms—rather, all but one man did, namely, Hiland, who fell at third yesterday, injuring his arm so severely that there is only guesswork as to when he will be fit again.

The Wolverines came to town with a record of three games won and three lost, but Mr. Leadley says that the weather experienced has been too cold to permit of good ball-playing. To-morrow the Detroiters go to Princeton, while the Jerseys will for a second time try conclusions with the Bostonians. The hitting order: JERSEY CITY. Knowles, 3d b. Lyons, c. f. O'Brien, 1st b. Friel, 1st b. Gerhardt, 3d b. Burke, c. Landmann, p. LANG, c. DETROIT. Wheelock, s. a. McGlone, 3d b. Virtue, 1st b. Burns, c. f. Higgin, 3d b. Lang, c. Umpire—Mr. Clinton. Play was called at 3:45.

Weather a striking contrast to that experienced in former games, warm, bright and all it should be. Detroit took the field. The game: First Inning—Four balls gave Knowles first, but Lyons's grounder forced him at second. Lyons stole second. O'Brien fouled out. Friel was given first on balls. Gerhardt made a good attempt to send in a run, but his long fly was caught by Burns. No runs. Wheelock got first on balls, stole second and reached third on Burke's low throw. Campaign went out at first.

McGlone was a doubtful out at the plate, trying to score on McGlone's grounder to Gerhardt. McGlone reached first on that out and took third on Virtue's single. McGlone tried to score when Virtue ran to second, but was thrown out at third. No runs. Second Inning—Daly hit safely, but was thrown out at second. Burke fouled out. Landmann was given first on balls and took second on Burns's grounder. Knowles's safe one filled the bases. Virtue made a pretty catch of Lyons's foul. No runs.

Rooks started the Wolverines half with a single to centre. He was forced at second by Wiswell's grounder to Lang, but the latter's wild throw for a double at first allowed Wiswell to reach second. He scored on Higgins's single to right. Anderson's single advanced Higgins to third, and on Wells's fly to right, misjudged by O'Brien, Higgins scored. Anderson was thrown out at first. Wheelock flew out. Two runs.

Third Inning—A pretty play by Wheelock retired O'Brien at first. Friel knocked out a baser, but was caught stealing second. Four balls gave Gerhardt first, and he took second when four more obliged Daly to occupy first. Burke struck out. No runs. Lang's fumble allowed Campaign to get first, and he stole second. McGlone's pretty sacrifice advanced him to third. Virtue took first on balls.

Campaign tried to make home and failed on Burke's short throw to Gerhardt. Virtue took second on the play, but was left by Rooks's fly out to Lang. No runs. Fourth Inning—Nobody scored. Fifth Inning—O'Brien's two-bagger, stupid base running on the part of Jersey City and remarkably sharp fielding by the visitors distinguished the first half. No runs. Wheelock's base on balls, pretty steal of second and Campaign's single yielded one earned run for Detroit, and a base on balls, a steal and Lang's error allowed McGlone to cross the plate. Two runs.

Sixth Inning—Singles by Daley and Burke and a costly error of Rooks were responsible for Jersey City's first tally. One run. With two men on bases a pretty double play retired the Wolverines in the sixth without runs. Smith relieved Anderson in the pitcher's box for Detroit.

How the game continued is indicated in the score by innings. Jersey City. 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 Detroit. 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 Errors—Jersey City, 2; Detroit, 3.

FIRE HORROR.

An Immense Lard Refinery Goes Up in Flame.

Two Workmen Killed and Many Maimed.

They Were in a Prison of Flame on the Several Floors.

Many Leapt from the Windows to the Pavement Below.

The New York Central Grain Elevator on Fire.

A terrible conflagration is raging on the West side of the city. At 3.41 fire broke out in the immense lard refinery of the W. J. Wilcox Company, one of the largest concerns in the country.

The building occupied the whole block bounded by Eleventh avenue, Fifty-ninth street, Sixtieth street and the Hudson River. It was of five stories and every floor was full of oil and lard in various stages of manufacture. One hundred and fifty men were employed in the refinery, and when the alarm was sounded every floor was occupied by busy workers. Next to the refinery was the grain elevator of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company, 300 feet high and full of grain.

The refinery was burned to the ground, and at the time of writing the fire threatens to spread to the whole neighborhood. A moment after the discovery of the fire on second floor of the Wilcox Building flames were pouring from every window of the great pile, and the next moment a huge sheet of flame covered the scene.

The burning lard melted and came out in blazing streams, stopping up the entrances. The workmen in the building found themselves pent in and escape almost a matter of impossibility. Three alarms were promptly sent out, and two sections of police came from the West Forty-seventh and West One Hundredth street stations.

Three calls for ambulances were also sent out in quick succession. A huge crowd assembled, among whom were relatives and friends of the workmen in the blazing pile, and they were half crazy to hear if all had escaped.

The heat of the flames was intense, and the firemen could scarcely venture close enough to use the hose, except upon the surrounding buildings. Police and firemen made heroic efforts to find a way out of the dense smoke and flame for the imprisoned workmen.

The great body of them were rescued, some by ladders and others over the roof. A number of them, however, became panic-stricken and jumped from the windows. Four men who had jumped from the Eleventh avenue side of the building were picked up on the sidewalk in a mangled condition. One man was dead when picked up.

Three others were taken to the Roosevelt hospital so badly burned and mutilated that they are likely to die. One of the injured gave his name as James Brown, a carpenter, twenty-five years old, of 603 West Forty-sixth street. He was fearfully burned about the head and face, and had received severe internal injuries in his leap to the stone pavement.

The latest report of the dead and injured is as follows: KILLED. HENRY BENNING, 694 Tenth avenue, forty years old, jumped from the third-story window overlooking the river. His back was broken. Another man is also said by the police to have been killed. His name is unknown. INJURED. JAMES BROWN, a carpenter, twenty-five years old, of 603 West Forty-sixth street, dangerously wounded about the head and internally. Taken to Roosevelt Hospital.

JOHN JOHNSON, of 537 West Forty-second street, jumped from window; badly injured. Taken to Bellevue Hospital. UNKNOWN MAN, also injured by jumping from window. Taken to Bellevue. The refinery was owned by a stock company. The cause of fire is a mystery. Mr. Wilcox says the Company was fully insured. He estimates the loss on the refinery at $300,000.

At 5.30 the great grain elevator of the New York Central Railroad Company caught fire. The firemen are in doubt of their ability to prevent its destruction. A fireman was overcome by the heat and was taken to the hospital.

Jane, Pericles, Golden Reel and Bordelaise Also Winners.

[SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.] RACE TRACK, CLIFTON, N. J., April 19.—It was a regular holiday crowd in point of numbers at Clifton to-day. The weather was clear and warm and the track in excellent condition.

The best he could do, however, was to run second to Jane, who won in a canter.

The talent plunged on Pericles to win, and Little Jake for the place, and they finished as named. Pericles winning a good race in fast time. Golden Reel was made the favorite for the third race and won it cleverly, but it cost her owner, Abe Aaron, $200 to retain her, as she was bid up to that amount. Singlestone was made favorite for the handicap, and won it easily, but on a good race. Bordelaise was the choice for the fifth race and won in 1.49 1/4, which is the fastest ever made on the track.

FIVE PEOPLE DROWNED.

BURLINGTON, Ia., April 19.—The steamer Everest was sunk by a gale which struck the boat near Otter Island last night. Sixteen persons were on the boat, of whom five were drowned. The five who were lost were: Capt. VINCENT EAST. Mrs. HARRY BALL and her three-year-old daughter. GEORGE HOWARD, first cook. NICHOLAS, steward. All these persons were in the cabin, as was Mrs. Howard, wife of the drowned cook, who escaped death almost miraculously. The Everest was a raft boat and belonged to the Burlington Lumber Company.
